About this course

If you are a good linguist and want to achieve a high level of proficiency in several languages, our flagship multi-language programme is ideal for you.

Introduction

This programme allows you to develop language skills (whether from beginner or A-level standard) of three or more target languages to, at least two of them to a range between C1 and C2 of the CEFR scale, or strong B2 to C1 in the case of Chinese, and a third language to at least B2 level of the CEFR scale. This programme also introduces you to a range of aspects of the target languages from linguistics through historical, cultural and transnational study (including literature and film) to practical, digital and mediation skills such as translation and interpreting. Students taking this programme will also enhance their understanding of aspects of life and culture in at least two countries in which the target languages are spoken as well as developing their proficiency in the target languages, their intercultural and transnational awareness and communication abilities, and their practical and interpersonal employability skills.

What you'll learn

- The ability to communicate appropriately, fluently and accurately in a number of personal and professional contexts in your chosen languages
- Linguistic principles required to analyse the your chosen languages
- Detailed study of literary and other cultural texts and contexts to develop a broad knowledge and critical understanding of the cultures, communities and societies in which your chosen languages are spoken
- The ability to contextualise a broad range of materials in written and spoken languages
- Analytic engagement with texts
- Oral and written presentation skills in both your native language and your languages of choice

Course content

Discover what you'll learn, what you'll study, and how you'll be taught and assessed.

Year One

This programme works on a pathway basis. As a student, you will take one of three pathways in year one. All pathways are made up of 60 credits in each semester.

Pathway 1.

3 x advanced language modules (15 credits each)

1 x complementary module for 15 credits

Pathway 2.

2 x advanced language modules (15 credits each)

1 x beginners language module (15 credits)

1 x complementary language module for 15 credits

Pathway 3.

1 x advanced language module (15 credits)

2 x beginners language modules (15 credits each)

1 x complementary module for 15 credits.

Students must take a complementary module from a different, relevant language area in each semester.

Chinese should normally only be taken alongside two advanced languages (i.e. Chinese cannot be taken concurrently with a second beginners' language).

Only students that have achieved an A at A level in their advanced language are eligible to take pathway 3 (two beginners languages).

HISP120 and HISP121 are complementary modules for Catalan and Portuguese, as well as Spanish. However, students cannot take both HISP120 and HISP121.

Catalan should normally be taken alongside advanced Spanish.

You may not take more than one of Catalan or Portuguese.

Pathway 5.

1 x advanced language module (15 credits)

1 x post-beginners language module (15 credits)

1 x beginners language module (15 credits)

1 x complementary module for 15 credits

If you choose to take either pathway 4 or 5 in your second year (and take up a new language from scratch), you must continue this language into your final year. You will not be able to spend part of your Year Abroad in a country that relates to this beginner language.

Language modules must be taken in pairs across both semesters.

You must take a complementary module from a different, relevant language area in each semester.

MODL200 is subject to a suitable placement being sourced.

ALGY112 is a pre-requisite for ALGY285.

Year Abroad (Year three)

Students are required to split their year abroad between two relevant language areas or countries. Depending on your choice of language, students can opt for one or two out of three pathways:

- Pathway 1, a course of study at a recognized academic institution
- Pathway 2, work as a BCLA English–Language teaching assistant
- Pathway 3, independent work placement.

You will complete assessment tasks appropriate to your Year Abroad placement, either producing one or more pieces of work in the target language or completing modules at your host university.

Teaching and assessment

How you'll learn

You will be taught in a mixture of formal lectures, seminars and small group tutorials where a friendly environment prevails and great attention is paid to giving feedback on assessed work.

In language classes, we make every effort to ensure that we have a small number of students compared to competitor institutions, which means that academic staff are able to support students to achieve their full potential. All language modules involve continuous assessment such as oral presentations, listening tests and grammar tests as well as exams. Tuition takes place in small groups with first-language speakers playing a prominent part and includes a range of skills such as listening, writing, speaking, interpreting and translation.

Students are also expected to make regular use of our fully-refurbished Language Lounge to enhance their own study. We encourage our students to become independent learners, and support them through our dedicated library resources in the Sydney Jones Library which is open 24-hour in term time. We also make extensive use of our virtual learning environment VITAL where students can complete structured tasks outside the classroom.

How you're assessed

Performance throughout the year is carefully monitored and used to supplement examinations. For language, such a programme of continuous assessment involves evaluating performance in a variety of written and oral exercises. Other modules have a mix of essay and exam assessment. Our aim is always to assess by methods of evaluation appropriate to the skills being developed and to allow students to gain credit for good work done during the year.

Exams take place at two points in the academic year: at the end of semester one in January and at the end of the session in May, so that the workload is evenly distributed. As regards the final degree result, for language programmes, the second year's work counts for 20%, the work done during the year abroad (foreign exams or extended essay or portfolio) counts for another 10%, and the final year's work counts for 70%.

Liverpool Learning Framework

At Liverpool, we take a distinctive approach to education through the Liverpool Learning Framework. This means teaching that is engaging, inclusive and designed to help you succeed during your studies and beyond.

You'll develop specialist subject knowledge alongside the skills employers value most, including:

- Digital fluency
- Confidence
- Global citizenship

Our curriculum is characterised by the three Liverpool Hallmarks:

- Research-connected teaching - learning informed by the latest ideas and discoveries
- Active learning - taking part, applying knowledge and learning by doing
- Authentic assessment - assessments designed around real-world tasks and challenges

We also embed key priorities across our curriculum, including AI literacy, employability, and sustainability, helping you prepare for the future and make a positive impact in the world.

We're committed to creating a supportive and inclusive learning environment where every student can thrive.

Careers and employability

Studying Modern Languages goes beyond preparing students for a specific career, as the skills learned offer many possibilities. The Higher Education Statistics Agency consistently records high employment levels for language graduates.

You will be equipped for graduate opportunities requiring competence in languages, breadth of outlook, sympathetic understanding of other cultures, efficient selection and deployment of information from written sources, critical and evaluative judgements and excellent standards of literacy.

We are justifiably proud of our excellent record on graduate employment. Our graduates go on to careers in all sectors worldwide. These include:

- Media
- Industry and commerce
- Finance
- Local and central government
- Translation
- Interpreting
- Teaching in schools and universities.

Pre-sessional English

Do you need to complete a Pre-sessional English course to meet the English language requirements for this course?

The length of Pre-sessional English course you'll need to take depends on your current level of English language ability.

Pre-sessional English in detail

If you don't meet our English language requirements, we can use your most recent IELTS score, or the equivalent score in selected other English language tests, to determine the length of Pre-sessional English course you require.

Use the table below to check the course length you're likely to require for your current English language ability and see whether the course is available on campus or online.

Your most recent IELTS score	Pre-sessional English course length	On campus or online
6.0 overall, with no component below 5.5	6 weeks	On campus or online
5.5 overall, with no more than one component at 5.0	10 weeks	On campus or online
5.5 overall, with no component below 5.0	12 weeks	Online
5.0 overall, with no component below 5.0	20 weeks	On campus
5.0 overall, with no component below 4.5	30 weeks	On campus
4.5 overall, with no more than one component at 4.0	40 weeks	On campus

If you've completed an alternative English language test to IELTS, we may be able to use this to assess your English language ability and determine the Pre-sessional English course length you require.

Please see our guide to Pre-sessional English entry requirements for IELTS 6.5 overall, with no component below 5.5, for further details.
