Canvas Bootcamp Online

These bootcamp workshops are targeted for start-of-year activities. This bootcamp is ideal for users who are new to Canvas, or those who have been using Canvas for a long time but feel like they would benefit from the training and are looking to develop their practice to try something new.

We will also highlight effective practices identified from the Canvas Evaluation.

Topics covered in each session will be:
- Weds 14th September 10:00-11:30: Canvas Essentials
- Thurs 15th September 10:00-11:30: Canvas Activities
- Fri 16th September 10:00-11:30: Canvas Quizzes

Wednesday 14 – 16 September
10:00 – 11:30 BST

NEW: Canvas Clinics

Come along to our Canvas Clinics for expert help and consultation on your Canvas course, whether you need help getting up to speed, would like help in implementing something new or in overcoming a problem, you are very welcome. We can go over the content of any of the morning Canvas Bootcamp Online Workshops and we can outline effective practices gained from the Canvas Evaluation we conducted in the spring.

Wednesday 14 – 16 September
14:00 – 16:00 BST

How do we decolonise our curriculum?

Why is decolonising the curriculum an important institutional priority at the moment? And how might we actually go about enhancing our process of decolonising our curriculum? In this workshop, we will explore these questions together.

We will work to co-create ideas for practical steps towards decolonising the curriculum. The session will be primarily discussion-based and will provide opportunities for us to share current thinking with others, encounter new ideas, and devise future plans and priorities.

Tuesday 27 September
13:00 – 14:30 BST
October workshops

Buddycheck for Peer Evaluation and Group Assessment

This session will introduce you to Buddycheck, a simple tool which integrates with Canvas to enable you to use peer evaluation to assess group collaboration. Buddycheck supports you in assessing or grading each student based on how they collaborated with their peers and contributed to the groups’ work.

Tuesday 6 October
11:00 – 12:00 BST

Introduction to Digital Education @ LivUni

This is an introductory session covering the technologies we have available centrally at Liverpool, their applications for learning and teaching, and highlighting policy, strategy and guidelines relating to digital education. This session is also an opportunity to reflect on your digital fluency and that of your students within the context of your own discipline.

Thursday 13 October
13:00 – 14:00 BST

Up and Running with Canvas

This workshop has been designed for both new users of Canvas, as well those of you who would like to refresh your own knowledge of the system. The aim is to take you from an overview of the Canvas interface to building a course.

Wednesday 19 October
11:00 – 12:00 BST

Utilising the UN’s Sustainable Development Goals in learning and teaching

This workshop will provide you with an opportunity to focus on the application of the UN’s Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) in the curriculum. Using reflective and discussion-based activities you will be able to review any current practice and explore new opportunities to enhance your learning and teaching.

Topics covered in the workshop will include:
• Overview to the SDGs.
• Institutional and sector drivers for incorporating the SDGs into the curriculum.
• Examples of learning and teaching practice.
• SDG resources you can use in your teaching.
• Engaging students with the SDGs.
• Further resources and support.

Thursday 27 October

November workshops

Video Assignments

In this workshop, we will demonstrate video and multimedia assignments within Canvas. This will include a walkthrough of the process to set up and assess video assignments, signpost resources that you can use with students, and present findings from staff who have used this format of assessment.

Wednesday 2 November
14:00 – 15:00 GMT

Working with Video in Canvas Studio

Canvas Studio allows us to easily record and embed video into our courses. This workshop will demonstrate how to get the best out of Studio, including how to work quiz elements into your recordings.

Thursday 10 November
11:00 – 12:00 GMT

Virtual spaces for small group collaboration

Virtual spaces support enhanced small group learning opportunities in collaborative digital environments. Students can view, analyse, evaluate and create content, synchronously and asynchronously, and utilise a range of communication tools at their disposal.

In this workshop, we will explore the virtual space, SpatialChat. Learn how to develop learning and teaching strategies within this space, and successfully integrate third-party collaborative tools including Padlet, Miro, multimedia, whiteboards, and more.

Tuesday 15 November
13:00 – 14:00 GMT

Canvas & Quizzing

The New Quizzing engine in Canvas, allows us to build a wide range of high-quality quiz interactions for our students. This workshop will explore some of the most frequently used quizzes and demonstrate how to build them into your courses.

Wednesday 16 November
13:00 – 14:00 GMT

Introduction to Education for Sustainable Development

Education for Sustainable Development (ESD) is the process of equipping students with the knowledge, understanding, skills and attributes to enable them to facilitate sustainable change in their personal and professional lives.

Tuesday 22 November
13:00 – 14:00 GMT

OneNote Class Notebook for Teaching & Learning

OneNote Class Notebooks is a tool that provides a flexible workspace for you to use with your students based on the OneNote tool. This tool, now integrated into Canvas as well as Teams, allows you to share materials with students through a handout library, provide each student with a personal workspace for exercises that you can oversee, and a collaboration space for shared notes, group exercises and other creative activities. This workshop will introduce you to the use of Class Notebooks, and explore how you can use the tool to design highly interactive and engaging digital spaces for your students.

This semester CIE will be offering a Canvas Bootcamp and a brand-new Canvas Clinic to support staff at all stages of expertise on our VLE. Canvas Bootcamp workshops are targeted for start of year activities and are ideal for users who are new to Canvas and users who want to try something new. Canvas Clinics will be held online and offer expert advice on your Canvas course. We can cover any content including topics covered by the morning Bootcamp, or even outline effective practice from the Canvas Evaluation in the spring.

Canvas Bootcamp:
- Weds 14 September 10:00–11:30: Canvas Essentials
- Thurs 15 September 10:00–11:30: Canvas Activities
- Fri 16 September 10:00–11:30: Canvas Quizzes

Canvas Clinic:
- Weds 14, Thurs 15 and Fri 16 September 14:00–16:00
Inclusive Curriculum

Tool + Taster and Q&A

The inclusive curriculum tool is a survey that is designed to help staff to consider the inclusivity of module/programme component and support them to consider what inclusivity looks like in practice by asking a series of reflective questions and providing links to further guidance on each area of the tool.

CIE will hold two Taster and Q&A sessions on the tool this semester in which we will demonstrate how to use the Inclusive Curriculum Tool to consider the inclusivity of your module/programme component and as a support for you in understanding what inclusivity looks like in practice, then hold a wider Q&A.
CIE On Demand is a hub of valuable asynchronous resources that complement the range of workshops, guides, case studies, and toolkits that are developed by the Centre for Innovation in Education (CIE) at University of Liverpool. These asynchronous Canvas courses allow you to explore a subject in more depth, growing your critical understanding of pedagogical topics and helping prepare you to apply the approaches you learn about to your own learning and teaching context.

Our courses include: Authentic Assessment | Digital Fluency | Global Citizenship | Open Educational Resources - An Introduction | An Introduction to Digital Tools | An Introduction to Canvas Studio | Education for Sustainable Development.
In the present climate, it is essential we give as much support as we can to our international students. In this context, we plan to present several workshops for staff from Dr Anna Chen (Chinese Language and Cultural Advisor). These will give an essential background followed by strategies for effective intercultural communication.

New cultural awareness workshops will be added for the upcoming year via our Eventbrite
The Social Media Network is a community of practice for members of staff across the institution who have an interest in social media. Whether this is a part of your role in the University, or you have a personal interest; this is the place for you to connect and collaborate with like-minded people and learn about how we all manage our social media.

The network involves sharing good practice, case studies of successful projects and exploration of innovative application through events every semester, with internal and external guest speakers.

We will be relaunching the network this semester and welcome any new members to join the MS Team where we hold online events and members can start discussions and ask questions related to social media.

The Digital Education Network (DEN) is a community where members come together to network around our interest in, whatever you may call it, e-learning, technology-enhanced learning, digital education, digital pedagogy, digital capabilities or fluency. Each DEN meeting follows a different topic or presentation, past topics include:

- Planning flexible online learning (with guest speaker Dr Louise Drumm)
- How LinkedIn Learning can support your Digital Strategy
- The intersection between digital education & diversity and inclusion

If you are interested in learning more about the DEN and our events, please join the MS Team.

Event details are advertised nearer the time, please do email us or drop us suggestions for topics you wanted us to discuss, our semester 1 meetings will be on 18 October, 24 November, and 6 December.
Can’t make it to a workshop? Want to make changes to your programme? Keen to try a new teaching approach in your module team?
