Workforce development and training that works for you

A wide range of impactful existing or tailor-made programmes that enable individuals and organisations to thrive in today's competitive working world.

We deliver relevant, recognised and respected programmes

Workforce development and training at the University of Liverpool gives you access to the entire breadth of knowledge of one of the UK's most prestigious Russell Group universities channelled into your specific business challenge.

You are tapping into expertise from specialists across all faculties and departments, facilities that are second to none and quality-assured teaching and materials.

Delegates and their employers can be reassured by the fact that our programmes are of the highest quality, care of service and where applicable accredited by industry leaders.

The University is currently delivering a number of Continuing Professional Development (CPD) offerings including:

- Non-credit bearing short courses (on-site, off-site and overseas)
- Credit bearing modules offered as stand-alone CPD courses
- Short courses accredited by Professional Institutes
- Customised courses tailored to client organisation needs
- On-line and blended learning programmes

We innovate in our training

Members of our CPD team constantly consult with industry to anticipate the external environment to understand upcoming business challenges and adapt the industry-led core learning offer accordingly.

From SMEs to blue chip organisations, every type of business can benefit from strategic workforce development at the University of Liverpool.

We build programmes in partnership with you, for you

Our team delivers workforce development and training that goes beyond individual learning and has an impact across your organisation and beyond. And if we don't have a core programme that addresses your specific challenge, we will work with you to create and deliver a bespoke offering.

Our approach to bespoke training solutions is to form a strategic partnership with an individual business to understand their needs, then work with relevant learning teams from across the University to design, develop and deliver tailored learning programmes which provide outstanding return on investment.

We create and deliver programmes to address business challenges and bring about real change with an impact that will be felt by your organisation, by individuals in the workplace and by your customers.

Our Liverpool in London Campus

We were the first non-London based Russell Group University to open a campus in London; and our centre for excellence, in the heart of the city's financial district, offers innovative, professionally-focussed postgraduate teaching.

We benefit from leading training facilities and equipment

We have a range of fantastic training facilities and equipment – As the original redbrick university, our stunning venues, specialist facilities, laboratories and state-of-the-art equipment are tailor-made to deliver high-quality workforce development in the perfect environment to complement the innovative training.
