Impacts 08 – The Liverpool Model
European Capital of Culture Research Programme

Presentation overview

• Researching culture-led regeneration
  – Impacts 08 as a new reference point for research on the ECoC

• Impacts 08 Baseline report 2000/6
  – Establishing a model for data collection & analysis
  – Core messages and selected findings

• The way forward | 2007-2010
  – Research priorities and partnerships

Impacts 08 Research Programme | Defined aims

- Grow the evidence base for the multiple impacts of culture upon regeneration and city renaissance
  - to inform the national debate, influence funding decisions and assist regional cultural planning;

- Provide intelligence to guide decision-making
  - within the ECoC cultural programme and marketing strategy

- Provide longitudinal impact analysis of Liverpool ECoC programming
  - retrospectively, to cover the impact of the bid, and up to 2009/10;

- Provide a replicable model that will add to the legacy of 2008
  - e.g. for future Capitals of Culture or similar large projects but also to inform other large programmes in the City.
Our object of study | What is the Liverpool ECoC

Liverpool Culture Company Objectives

- To create and present the best of local, national and international art and events in all genres
- To build community enthusiasm, creativity and participation
- To maintain, enhance and grow the cultural infrastructure of Liverpool
- To increase the levels of visitors and inward investment in Liverpool
- To reposition Liverpool as a world class city by 2008

2008 European Capital of Culture Vision

- To positively reposition Liverpool to a national and international audience and to encourage more visitors to the city and the North West
- To encourage and increase participation in cultural activity by people from communities across Merseyside and the wider region
- To create a legacy of long term growth and sustainability in the city’s cultural sector
- To develop greater recognition nationally and internationally for the role of arts and culture in making our cities better places to live, work and visit

Core themes | selected findings

• Cultural Participation
• Cultural Vibrancy
• Image and Identity

• Establishing a model for data collection & analysis
  – the case of cultural participation
Applying the model | Cultural Participation

Model of potential impacts of ECOC

- Assessment of available secondary data (including quality, range, and level of collection) and liaison to access
- Identification of gaps/weaknesses in existing secondary data
- Support to existing organisations to collect data
- Design of primary projects to collect data, work in partnership with other organisations where possible
- Analysis leading to building of indicators list, and contextualising this with framework (model above)
- Ongoing consultation and considering alternatives

Research framework | Lines of impact

- Cultural participation
- Physical environment
- Management
- Policy + strategy
- Input
- Direct impact (sales lift)
- Output
- Employment investment
- Economic growth
- Social capital
- Well-being
- Quality of life

Assess and access available secondary data (including quality, range, and level of collection) and liaison to access

- Identification of gaps/weaknesses in existing secondary data
- Support to existing organisations to collect data
- Assessment leading to building of indicators list and contextualising this with framework (model above)
- Critiquing current measures and considering alternatives
- Design of primary projects to collect data, work in partnership with other organisations where possible

Applying the model | Cultural Participation

- Assess and access available secondary data and sources
- National, eg
  - Taking Part Survey
- Local, eg
  - Culture Company data from grant funded organisations
  - Data from local arts organisations
  - Commissioned research from local organisations (arts, city council etc)
To what level is it collected – e.g. Taking Part only disaggregates to regional level

How consistent or comparable is it – different organisations have different drivers for collection, thus different data

Frequency of collection – Including one-off v. longitudinally collected. Collection at different points of the year

Quality?

Qualitative v. quantitative data – how to assess why people participate or the impacts of cultural participation?
One of Impacts 08’s aims: Provide intelligence to guide decision-making

‘Knowledge Transfer’ is part of universities’ function
- applying the knowledge arising from academic research in such a way as to make a difference to all areas of life.
- supported at government levels e.g. through ‘Knowledge Transfer Partnerships’

Impacts 08 works with Cultural organisations and Culture Company to support and improve data collection and evaluation of impact.

Dual outcomes
- More, and better quality, data and evaluation collected to support Impacts 08 work
- Legacy of evaluation skills and data collection models in cultural sector.
Local Area Studies
- In depth and longitudinal exploration of experience of people living in 4 areas of Liverpool – 2007-09.
  - Liverpool 1/ City Centre/ Chinatown/
  - Knotty Ash
  - Aigburth
  - Scotland Road/Kirkdale
- Cultural attitudes and participation, experience of and engagement with Liverpool 08, changing experience of their neighbourhood and city as a whole.
- Surveys, interviews with stakeholders and locals, mappings and other qualitative methods
Impacts of Cultural Participation on Quality of Life

- Other research explores whether and why people get involved in culture, this project will explore some of the impacts on quality of life of cultural participation
- Selection of a few ‘domains’ of quality of life, eg
  - Sense of safety
  - Mental wellbeing and community connections
  - Aesthetic experience, feeling differently about the world
- Qualitative tools developed to give quantifiable measures, to be used before, during and after participation in existing engagement project.
- Partnership with cultural engagement projects eg Creative Communities, LARC education and outreach projects to see impacts across range of projects.

Model of potential impacts of CCOC

- Assessment of available secondary data (including quality, range, and level of collection) and liaison to access
- Identification of gaps/weaknesses in existing secondary data
- Support to existing organisations to collect data
- Design of primary projects to collect data, work in partnership with other organisations where possible
- Analysis leading to building of indicators list, and contextualising this with framework (model above)
- Good practice and ‘tool-kits’ for collection of data
- Critiquing current measures and considering alternatives
Analysis of existing data, with additions from new primary data allows us to give initial findings of cultural participation levels

Qualitative Findings | ‘Young Liverpool’ project

- Cultural Activity | What they liked to do

  - Participants talked about ‘hanging about’ (Croxteth) and ‘chillin’ (Toxteth) as their main leisure activity, for example ‘just ‘chillin’ in the park, doing nothing.”

  - There was sometimes some embarrassment about this “doing nothing”, and it was clear that it was believed that they must have been “up to no good”.
Qualitative Findings | ‘Young Liverpool’ project

Qualitative Findings | ‘Young Liverpool’ project

- Engagement and Exclusion | City Centre

  - Several young people mentioned engagement with public art (in the form of the Williamson Square Fountain!)
  - “I go to the fountain, and ride my bike through the fountain”.

  - Age seemed to be quite significant with many of them saying that they went to places like the museum when they were younger: “I used to go to the Museum when I was a kid”. Some doubted whether they would be let in, raising questions about how comfortable some of them felt in places like museums and art galleries.

Indicators

Good practice and ‘tool-kits’ for collection of data

Critiquing current measures and considering alternatives
Applying the model | Cultural Participation

Indicators

1. Total number of events funded, or directly organised, by Liverpool Culture Company - 5,256
2. Total audience/participants at such events - over 3.7 million
3. Number of volunteers involved in the Liverpool 08 programme - 730
4. Number of days of volunteering given - 771
5. Participation at Liverpool cultural events by demographic groups - broadly reflects national patterns.
6. Steps to improve access – eg. 15 Liverpool 08 cultural partners have received Disability Equality Action Training
7. Liverpool residents’ interest in culture - broadly in line with and slightly higher than the rest of the UK.
8. Liverpool residents’ participation/attendance at cultural events/venues – broadly in line with and slightly higher than UK.

March 2007 Indicators report figures (date dependent on data source see report)
Applying the model | Cultural Participation

Good practice and 'tool-kits' for collection of data

- Support and work with cultural organisations and Culture Company gives rise to suggestions as to how to solve problems of data collection
- 08satisfaction and diversity questionnaire:
  - Mapping demographic and geographic breakdown of audience at sample of 08 events
  - Co-designed with LCC market research team and Culture Company M&E staff
  - To be carried out by 08Volunteers (thus adding to their skills)
  - To be made available for Culture Company funded and other community organisations to support their data collection
• Taking part in national debate about current measures and sharing learning with local organisations
  – e.g. Quantitative measures are not sufficient to account for unexpected impacts, concerns about what ought to be measured.
• Commissioning of and linking with qualitative work on the subject
  – e.g. Quality of Life impacts of cultural participation project
• Also taking part in debate on unresolved methodological issues and recognising the need to go beyond usual measures – e.g. the case of disability

• The case of measures to assess disability:
  – Priority group for government targets
  – Increasingly prevalent with ageing population – Particularly hard to measure given:
    • Social model of disability
    • ‘Official’ measures for disability
• Recognising and discussing the problem has given rise to creative solutions | for us and for practitioners
• What if we measure steps taken to ensure inclusion?
  – Beyond DDA | disability groups look at creative ways to respond
Core themes | selected findings

- Cultural Participation
- Cultural Vibrancy
- Image and Identity

- Establishing a model for data collection & analysis
  - the case of cultural participation
Cultural Vibrancy | Data and Contextualisation

- What are we trying to measure/explore:
  - Shape, growth, potential for sustainability, e.g.
    - Number of businesses,
    - Volume of employment
    - Skills levels
    - Access to training and advocacy
    - Graduate retention
    - Interconnectedness within and beyond the sector and area
    - Flexibility and potential for change
    - Perceived quality
    - Geographical reach
- Need for qualitative as well as quantitative measures

Cultural System | Size and Growth

Total number of workplace units in Liverpool’s cultural system – by sector

Employment volume in Liverpool’s cultural system – by sector
Creative Industries | Comparison with other cities

- % of total population employed in 'cultural system'

Creative Industries | Size and Growth

Employment volume in 'DCMS Creative Industries' as a % of total employment volume

Workplace units in 'DCMS Creative Industries' as a % of total workplace units
Creative Industries | Growth

Workplace units in ‘DCMS Creative Industries’ as a % of 2000 levels

Beyond numbers | Understanding the sector

- Training, skills and advocacy
- Linking with advocacy/skills organisations to explore how ECoC has impacted on them
  - TMP for tourism infrastructure,
  - Commission ACME project on different areas of Creative Industries sector
- Mapping the arts sector
  - Size and scope
  - The connections (within and beyond the sector)
- Perceptions of ‘quality’
  - National reviews of cultural events and programmes in Liverpool related to ECoC
  - Visits by international artists, reviewers etc
  - Tourism and business willingness to invest/visit measures.

- Establishing a model for data collection & analysis
  - the case of cultural participation

Baseline | Identity, Image & Place

- In 2003, national papers produced four times more positive stories about Liverpool’s culture and arts scene than was the case in 1996;
- Sustained positive press associations relating to Liverpool at a local as well as national level include references to its galleries/visual arts scene; business and inward investment; TV media and entertainment; music scene; cultural events; and universities/ research;
- Nationally, the Liverpool ECoC is mainly associated with the wider city’s renaissance, in particular, its renewed (enhanced) image and economic regeneration;
- The November 6th ‘08 Highlights’ launch attracted extremely positive coverage at local level. National coverage has been slow but steady, with increasing numbers of long broadsheet feature (particularly weekends or Sunday) articles dedicated to the city’s cultural assets from November onwards.
