

Celebrate life

In memory giving at
Ness Botanic Gardens

A donation to celebrate the life of a loved one is a wonderful way to support Ness Botanic Gardens.

Our in memory giving programme will help you pay tribute to the life of someone special and help grow Ness Botanic Gardens for generations to come.

You can help us keep Arthur Kilpin Bulley's vision alive by supporting Ness Botanic Gardens - his gift to us all, that has been loved and protected for over 100 years by its staff, volunteers, members and visitors.

A gift made in memory

Remember your loved one, whilst supporting the vital work that takes place at Ness Botanic Gardens.

Precious memories are made at Ness Botanic Gardens and we hope that you'll share your story with us about who you are remembering.

If you would like to make a donation in memory, please contact us and we will be happy to discuss how best to pay tribute.

How your donation can make a difference

Through gifts in memory you will help conserve unique plants collected from all over the world. You will support world leading research in partnership with its custodian, the University of Liverpool and inspire the next generation to care for and appreciate their environment.

“Ness Botanic Gardens are important to our visitors for many different reasons. For some, it may be the quiet reflective spaces, for others our world famous plant collections set within beautiful surroundings. Or maybe it's a special place where memories have been made - lending itself as a natural choice to support through in memory giving.”
