The project website has been up and running since January 2011. The web developer was hired in October 2010, and was on contract through the end of January 2011 for the task. Input from all partners was used to create the content of the website, including partner profiles, news, and updates on project outputs.

The website will continue to evolve throughout the life of the project, with additional content being added as the project work progresses.
