The diagram illustrates the structure of the University of Liverpool Research Integrity Committee. The committees are organized hierarchically, starting from the Senate and Council at the top. The Senate has the Research Integrity & Governance Committee, which reports to the Council. The Council has the Committee on Research Ethics, which oversees the Central University Research Ethics Committees, Faculty / Institute / School Research Ethics Committees, and other subcommittees.

Specific committees include:
- Human Material Oversight Committee
- Joint Research Service Sponsorship Committee
- Clinical Trials Oversight Committee
- Animal Welfare and Ethical Review Body
- Faculty Human Tissue Officers
- Joint Research Service Non-Interventional Sponsorship Subcommittee

The committees communicate with each other for information, as indicated by the arrows on the diagram.
