OUR MBA STUDENTS

The MBA learning experience is greatly enhanced by the sheer diversity of our students. Full-time and part-time students are taught together and come from a range of sectors, industries, backgrounds, countries and cultures. Their unique experiences can help you to develop an understanding of business on a global scale.

Students join our MBA programmes to achieve a number of professional goals. They may plan to start a new business, move into a more senior strategic role, or improve the performance of their current company. Students may also plan to change their job function, sector, or move to another country. Typically, our students will have a minimum of three years of substantive experience managing budgets, people or projects.
MESSAGE FROM THE ASSOCIATE DEAN

Studying an MBA is a transformational career move.
At the University of Liverpool, we accelerate this transformation.

At the University of Liverpool Management School, our world-class MBA programmes will enable you to develop and excel as leaders and managers, and to make an extraordinary impact in your career. In whatever setting you aspire to make a positive difference as a leader, our MBA programmes will build on your foundation expertise and skills, and extend them to give you the capabilities, confidence and tools you will need.

You will develop as an effective strategic leader, with the understanding to manage and address key challenges of the contemporary world of work, for example how to deal with complex competing priorities, ambiguous information, uncertain outcomes and difficult decision making. Our MBA programmes also focus on your personal development, allowing you to understand your individual potential to inspire and lead with passion and integrity. This means that whether your ambition and motivation drive you to be an entrepreneur, to lead in business and commerce, or in elite sports, to transform public services, or make a positive social impact in the third sector, our MBA programmes will support you in realising and achieving your goals.

We believe that optimum learning occurs when you are exposed to multiple opportunities to experiment and test new concepts – not just in a classroom debate, but when you experience being at the centre of real-world applied contexts and scenarios. That’s why a key element of our programme design is action learning. Our MBAs encompass a mix of ‘hands-on’ activities that provide you with the opportunity to apply and master your learning. We collaborate with industry and business leaders to provide you with experiential site visits, technology-based decision simulations, peer-to-peer collaboration and case consultancies.

We are constantly innovating in our programmes to enhance learning outcomes and the student experience. For example, we have developed new and exciting career development elements to our programmes, and enhanced our blended learning and online platforms. Part of what we are able to achieve is through our worldwide community of students and alumni, a network you will join when you study with us.

We will be your partners in learning throughout the programme and throughout your career, committed to, and proud of your success. Join us at the University of Liverpool and begin a journey of transformation.

Dr John Byrom
Associate Dean, MBA Programmes
HOW YOU CAN MAKE THE CHANGE WITH THE LIVERPOOL MBA

A holistic approach to your development
Our focus is on developing the whole person – as a learner and a leader.

The programme will expose you to core management challenges including:
- Designing and implementing strategy
- Using the power of data analysis to anticipate rather than follow
- Building and investing in teams and allocating organisational resources
- Innovating in processes, platforms and culture
- Leading with presence and authenticity.

To help you become the manager, leader or entrepreneur you want to be, we will help you to develop the self-awareness, emotional intelligence and interpersonal skills which enable you to understand, inspire, motivate and influence others.

Study at a leading Management School
The University of Liverpool is part of the Russell Group of Universities – acknowledged as the UK’s leading establishments for excellence in teaching and research.

We hold the gold standard of ‘triple-crown’ accreditation from the AACSB, AMBA and EQUIS, and live by our mission “to be a globally connected Management School, whose transformative research and teaching places us at the forefront of influential knowledge leadership.” This brings us together with students, business and society in “learning to make a difference”.

Thrive in a city where talent is recognised and nurtured
Liverpool is a city that’s become famous for its commercial influence and cultural impact worldwide, its openness to new ideas means that Liverpool is the perfect setting for your transformational journey. We can help with each stage of your career plan – from deciding which career direction is best for you, to getting ready for interview.

Your MBA
We offer two unique programmes:
- the Liverpool MBA, to accelerate your strategic leadership capabilities
- the Football Industries MBA, the original, world-leading programme tailored to the challenges of the global football industry.

Globally ranked
The MBA programme is ranked amongst the top 100 MBA programmes in the world and achieved Tier 1 Status in CEO Magazine’s 2022 Global MBA Rankings.

The Football Industries MBA is ranked at number 25 in the SportBusiness Postgraduate Course Rankings for 2021.

Connect with industry
We collaborate with local and global industry and business partners to provide you with hands-on learning opportunities, simulations, site visits and work based projects to accelerate learning and collaboration.
As a globally connected School, we are able to offer you a wealth of opportunities to work with local, national and international business leaders.

The School is uniquely placed at the heart of the Liverpool business community with industries including digital and creative services, wealth management, biotechnology, pharmaceuticals, shipping and logistics, and automotive.

Work Based Projects

Work based projects and consultancy opportunities provide the chance to apply your knowledge and leadership skills, and to gain experience in a different sector and/or job function.

You can compete for these opportunities through the extensive networking opportunities provided on the MBA.

Work based projects take place during the summer and take around three months to complete. You may even be able to undertake your project outside the UK. Students have undertaken work based projects in Colombia, China and Japan, among many other countries.

MBA students have completed projects across a wide range of sectors including engineering, healthcare, logistics, manufacturing, professional services, renewable energy and retail. These sectors are cornerstones of the Liverpool City Region’s economy, locally and globally connected sectors, which is on the door step.

Football Industries MBA students have worked at football clubs, leagues, associations and federations.

Within the fulcrum of real decisions in fast-changing contexts, projects have focused on key business functions such as finance, human resources, IT and marketing. Others have informed strategic decision making. Recent examples include the development of an app for a digital marketing company, the rebranding of a family business following diversification, the market research and business planning for a new start-up venture, and the development of a football academy.

Work based project providers have included:
- Barclays
- Bibby Distribution
- BlackRock
- Celtic FC
- Ceratium Limited
- Coca Cola Ltd
- CS Consulting
- Everton FC
- Getrag Ford
- IDM Engineering
- Jaguar Land Rover
- Liverpool FC
- Manchester City FC
- PriceWaterhouseCoopers (PWC)
- Santander
- Suttons Group
- The Football Association
- The Very Group
- TUI Travel
- UEFA
- Wasserman
- YFM Equity Funds.

ALUMNI COMMUNITY

The University of Liverpool Management School has more than 27,000 graduates spread across the world, allowing MBA students and alumni to develop links with like-minded professionals.

The School’s dedicated Alumni Engagement Manager can help you to maximise the value of your degree once you graduate by offering you access to exclusive developmental webinars, events both in the UK and overseas, and free access to the University libraries and online journals.
CAREERS SUPPORT

Our Career and Leadership Development Programme is designed to enrich your MBA journey by challenging your thinking about your own professional, career and leadership development. Active participation in the Programme will deepen your awareness of yourself, your strengths, motivations and aspirations, and support you in confidently articulating and leveraging your MBA with impact and influence.

In practice, the Programme offers:

- One to one individual coaching from our dedicated MBA Professional Development team
- Tailored psychometric assessment with guided feedback
- Workshops: Leadership – to develop behaviours and attributes of the whole person as a future leader
- Workshops: Career – practical sessions to navigate recruitment processes and leverage your MBA learning
- Masterclass Guest Speakers: With significant networks to draw upon, we attract leaders and MBA Alumni from diverse sectors. Bringing a monthly ‘Consultancy Challenge’, a real-world issue, our students are encouraged to stay connected and in turn become mentors to the next generation. You will also benefit from access to a wide range of careers and professional development support, advice and webinars up to five years after you've graduated.

Networking is a central part of the MBA journey, network with peers, MBA Alumni and Guest Speakers. The Programme enhances professional networking skills both in person and virtually.

Careers support doesn’t end when you graduate from your MBA programme. You are a lifelong member of the MBA community and we encourage you to stay connected and in turn become mentors to the next generation. You will also benefit from access to a wide range of careers and professional development support, advice and webinars up to five years after you've graduated.

Networking is a central part of the MBA journey, network with peers, MBA Alumni and Guest Speakers. The Programme enhances professional networking skills both in person and virtually.

The Career and Leadership Development Programme had a fantastic balance between learning through workshops and guest speakers. The speakers in particular opened up about their personal journey and offered advice for me and my peers as we set out to become leaders of the future. The support offered by Bernadette and her team was also a brilliant resource.

I gained tips and tools from industry leaders in interviewing, leadership, self-reflection, and teamwork. I leave the MBA with knowledge of the subject matter but equally important, knowledge of and confidence in, where I want to be and how I can get there.

TEACHING AND LEARNING SUPPORT

We encourage you to discuss and debate contemporary business issues and to draw on your own experience.

Explore how business challenges can be addressed by considering real case studies of international organisations. Virtual business simulation exercises will ask you to make strategic financial, marketing and HR decisions as a team. You will interpret the stock market and other relevant information, and assess the real time impact of your choices on business performance.

You’ll also have the opportunity to tackle real crisis management scenarios, through participation in action learning sets, formulating new business proposals and presenting solutions to senior business leaders.

You will have access to personalised learning support which covers study skills and English language skills. Academic advice and mentoring is provided by your Academic Advisor and the alumni network.

"Balancing work and study has greatly improved my organisation and prioritisation skills, which will benefit me as I develop in my career."

Fiona Dowling
THE LIVERPOOL MBA

Programme Overview
The Liverpool MBA is designed to extend your existing expertise, build strategic leadership capabilities and increase your self awareness as leader.

You’ll build a deeper understanding of core business and management disciplines, and learn how they link together strategically and operationally.

Through core and elective modules, the programme will expose you to core management and leadership challenges, including:

- Designing and implementing strategy
- Using the power of data analysis to anticipate, rather than follow
- Building and investing in teams and allocating organisational resources
- Innovating in processes, platforms and culture
- Navigating the politics of power
- Leading with presence and authenticity.

We focus on enhancing your understanding of the interplay of organisational dynamics – people, power, politics and systems – and on gaining new analytical skills to identify, dissect and solve complex business problems. We also focus on you as a leader and the development of your personal capabilities to lead and drive change.

Where It Takes You
Our Alumni have transformed their careers, working in a range of senior functional and general management positions across a wide spectrum of business sectors around the world – from consultancy to construction, and from engineering to retail.

Many of our graduates have started their own businesses, realising their passion for new technologies that provide safe drinking water to communities, driving better outcomes in health solutions, and many other life transforming initiatives.

Some of our most recent graduates are now working in:

- Airtel
- Arab Bank
- Barclays
- Capgemini
- CitiusTech
- Cummins
- Deloitte
- Deutsche Bank
- Dubai Cable Company
- Goldman Sachs
- Hewlett-Packard
- KPMG
- Lloyds TSB/Capita groups
- Oracle
- PriceWaterhouseCoopers (PwC)
- Saudi Aramco
- Skye Bank PLC.
Programme Structure
The 12-month full-time programme consists of ten compulsory modules and two elective modules, followed by a work based project or a dissertation.

A dissertation enables you to undertake an in-depth study of a sector, an industry, a subject area, or a company.

Semester 1 Compulsory Modules
Leadership, Management and Organisation (ULMS847) (10 credits)
Discover how individuals, groups, and organisations interact to impact culture, ethics and performance. This module helps you develop as a reflective manager and leader.

Managerial Economics (ULMS848) (10 credits)
What motivations sit behind the various stakeholders’ actions in the commercial environment? This module uncovers the theories at play which help to explain how markets work and how corporate governance mechanisms control these interactions.

Managing Financial Resources (ULMS701) (10 credits)
What are the financial responsibilities of organisations to their various stakeholders? This module explores how financial resources can be managed to add value and optimise shareholder wealth.

Marketing and Supply Chain Management (ULMS846) (10 credits)
Supply chains can be designed to build, develop, and sustain competitive advantage. Through numerous case examples, learn how marketing strategies and supply chains interact and impact products and services.

Strategy and Organisation (ULMS822) (10 credits)
Organisational strategy is at the heart of understanding managerial decision making. This module explores how different environments have affected a range of organisations, and their strategies.

Strategic Management Simulation (ULMS774) (10 credits)
Competing in teams, students learn how to deal with complex, often incomplete information, in fast paced environments. The module demonstrates how the decisions they make across finance, strategy, and resourcing has tangible impacts on the performance of their organisation.

The module on Leadership, Management, and Organisation especially stands out for me, I developed skills that I have immediately applied to my work, both for myself and my team, relating to influencing, operating in a matrix and shaping the strategy.

Olawunmi McDowall
The Liverpool MBA

Semester 2 Compulsory Modules
Governance and Sustainability (ULMS821) (10 credits)
Through a range of diagnostics, expert feedback, masterclasses, practice, and practical exercises, students gain a deep understanding of themselves as individuals, team members, potential leaders, managers and learners. Students benefit from coaching and 1:1 mentoring from senior practitioners across a range of sectors and industries.

Innovation and Entrepreneurship (ULMS704) (10 credits)
Through guided sessions and guest speakers, students are exposed to the issues and dilemmas in ‘doing’ innovation and entrepreneurship in practice.

International Business and the Global Environment (ULMS849) (10 credits)
In today’s global economy understanding issues around location and international strategy is critical. This module helps students assess the implications of internationalisation of business activities.

Management Consulting in Practice (ULMS850) (10 credits)
Gain first hand practical experience in management consulting. Student teams work on live projects for a client organisation to develop practical skills in project management, teamwork, data analysis, and oral and visual communication.
Semester 2 Elective Modules*
- Advanced Corporate Finance and Financial Management (10 credits)
- Effective Human Resource Management (10 credits)
- Managing and Communicating the Brand (10 credits)
- Advanced Analytics for Business (10 credits)

*Elective modules will be run dependent upon viability/student numbers and resources.

Summer Compulsory
- Work Based Project or Dissertation (60 credits)
  In the summer term students work on either a dissertation or work based project.
- Work Based Project (ULMS823)
  The work based project allows students to work on a live problem for an organisation. Pulling together the latest research in the field, students will use these findings to develop solutions and strategies for the client organisation.
- Or
- Dissertation (ULMS706)
  The dissertation allows students to delve into an area of their choice to gather and synthesize the state-of-the-art research and contemporary issues in the field.

Meeting executives and leaders of the industry, who made a difference in their own career, greatly helped in bringing about more motivation and inspiration for us to go on and pursue our own journey. The Catalyst and Masterclasses I found to be very useful as they served as a platform both for networking and meeting real inspirational people. Since I am completing my MBA alongside my job, I didn’t get to attend all the sessions but hearing the speakers talk about their experience, their challenges and how they managed to achieve what they did, are just some of the golden moments in my MBA stint.

Programme Overview
The Football Industries MBA (FIMBA) programme is the original, and still the only, Football Industries MBA. As an MBA programme, it has the real business focus that management positions in modern sport demand. Focusing on the professionalism and business of the beautiful game, if you want to work in the global football industry – with clubs, governing bodies or related marketing, media and sponsorship companies – this is the MBA programme for you.

The Football Industries MBA is named as one of the top 25 sports courses in the world, and features in the 2021 SportBusiness Postgraduate Course Ranking. The core elements of the programme – leadership, strategy, organisations, innovation, international business and the global environment, entrepreneurship and managing financial resources – are delivered in concentrated blocks to encourage a deeper understanding, with a strong emphasis on interactive teaching and learning. The specialist football modules apply business concepts to modern football. You’ll gain a critical awareness of issues in football management, finance and law. Crucially, you’ll receive vocational training for the industry, including the Becoming a Football Executive module and a Sports Operations Management module. The broader skills you’ll acquire include analysis, problem solving, creativity and decision-making. The Becoming a Football Executive module will also strengthen your career management skills and hone your interpersonal, communication abilities. Based in Liverpool, the football hotbed of the North-West of England, English clubs are accessible as laboratories for students to put theory into practice.

Where It Takes You
FIMBA is at the centre of one of the best existing global networks in the football industry with Alumni working for the top football and sports clubs, governing bodies, media and commercial organisations in Europe, Asia, the Americas and Africa.

Some of our most recent graduates are now working in the following football clubs and related organisations:

- Adidas
- AEG Europe
- Asian Football Confederation
- BATE Borisov [Belarus]
- Celtic FC
- Chinese Football Association
- England Netball
- European Broadcasting Union
- FC Bayern Munich
- FC Colo-Colo [Chile]
- FC Seoul [South Korea]
- Gremio FBPA [Brazil]
- Liverpool FC
- Manchester City FC
- NBA
- Nike
- Octagon
- Rugby Football Union
- Santos Laguna [Mexico]
- Scottish Professional Football League
- The [English] Football League
- UEFA.

The Football Industries MBA is ranked TOP 25 sports courses in the world (2021 SportBusiness Postgraduate Course Ranking.)
Programme Structure
The 12-month programme consists of twelve compulsory modules followed by a work-based project or a dissertation. A dissertation enables you to undertake an in-depth study of a sector, an industry, a subject area, or a company.

Semester 1 Compulsory Modules
Becoming a Football Executive (ULMS824) (Part 1) (10 credits)
This module is key to the MBA Programme in its focus on the development of the whole person. As well as an emphasis on the football job market, the module involves a football management simulation that enables students to critically reflect on their performance in a high-pressure situation.

Football Economics and Analytics (ULMS804) (10 credits)
Students will explore the economics of a range of core issues including the football players’ and managerial labour markets, the economic design of leagues and the demand for and supply of football across different media.

International Football Industry (ULMS763) (10 credits)
The module develops a critical understanding of the structure and organisation of football across different international settings. It examines the role and influences of major stakeholders including federations, leagues, clubs, players and their agents, and consumers. The supply of and the demand for football form part of the module’s analysis.

Leadership, Management and Organisation (ULMS847) (10 credits)
Discover how individuals, groups, and organisations interact to impact culture, ethics and performance. This module helps you develop as a reflective manager and leader.

Marketing and Supply Chain Management (ULMS846) (10 credits)
Supply chains can be designed to build, develop, and sustain competitive advantage. Through numerous case examples, learn how marketing strategies and supply chains interact and impact products and services.

Managing Financial Resources (ULMS701) (10 credits)
What are the financial responsibilities of organisations to their various stakeholders? This module explores how financial resources can be managed to add value and optimise shareholder wealth.

Strategy and Organisation (ULMS822) (10 credits)
Organisational strategy is at the heart of understanding managerial decision making. This module explores how different environments have affected a range of organisations, and their strategies.

For me, the game-changing guest speaker experience was a double session delivered by James Worrall, Founder of Leaders, and Paul Barber, CEO of Brighton FC. This masterclass helped me believe in my ambitions and provided real insight into the factors that govern the strategy of a club/company.

Agrim Aggarwal
Football Industries MBA
Semester 2 Compulsory Modules

Becoming a Football Executive (ULMS824) (Part 2)
Part two of the key module which focuses on the development of the whole person.

Football and Finance (ULMS724) (10 credits)
How do you solve football’s finance? This module provides students with an understanding of club and league finance; current regulations and licensing; ownership structures and development finance; and the importance of sound financial management to the successful implementation of strategy.

Innovation and Entrepreneurship (ULMS704) (10 credits)
Through guided sessions and guest speakers, students are exposed to the issues and dilemmas in ‘doing’ innovation and entrepreneurship in practice.

International Business and the Global Environment (ULMS849) (10 credits)
In today’s global economy understanding issues around location and international strategy is critical. This module helps students assess the implications of internationalisation of business activities.

Sport and the Law (ULMS721) (10 credits)
This module introduces students to the ways in which domestic, European and international law affect the sports industries. It considers how the law is a fundamental force in driving the development of regulation in sport internationally and how long-standing practices can be challenged in the courts.

Semester 2 Optional Modules

Sports Operations Management (ULMS829) (10 credits)
This module focuses on the theory, principles and practice of managing sports operations and events. Guest speakers and visits to clubs allow students to develop an awareness of the practical, regulatory and legal issues involved in running major sporting events.

Or

Advanced Analytics for Business (ULMS885) (10 credits)
Critically evaluate reports and data analysis produced by different functional and operational specialists.

Identify how data and analytics can be used to support decision making, and learn how to effectively articulate and explain results.

Summer Compulsory

Work Based Project or Dissertation (60 credits)
In the summer term students work on either a dissertation or work based project.

Work Based Project (ULMS823)
The work based project allows students to work on a live problem for an organisation. Pulling together the latest research in the field, students will use these findings to develop solutions and strategies for the client organisation.

Dissertation (ULMS706)
The dissertation allows students to delve into an area of their choice to gather and synthesize the state-of-the-art research and contemporary issues in the field.

If you already hold an MBA or have good experience in the industry and would like to study the football specific modules only, we offer a Certificate in Business Administration (Football Industries).

Programme structures are subject to review.

Apart from invaluable academic theories, my MBA study gave me the opportunity to learn from successful industry practitioners such as Neil Doncaster, Rick Parry, Jo Tongue, Peter Moore, Paul Barber and David Dein.

I have already gained a lot of experience building a network, maintaining and leveraging connections in the UK sports circles, which undoubtedly will provide more benefits in my professional life.

Thankfully, the industry has been moving toward diversity and gender equality. Women have won their place on and off the pitch becoming reporters, referees, board members and CEOs of football clubs.
