WE DID

STUDENT

Assessment methods lack variety; most modules are assessed in the same way.

We want our participation in discussion to be rewarded.

Different Departments have different Reading Weeks, which can be counter-productive for students on Combined Degrees.

It is sometimes difficult to keep track of assessment deadlines across modules.

STAFF

Philosophy now uses more than ten different types of assessment components.

Seminar discussion is now an assessment component in several Philosophy modules.

We have reassigned Philosophy's Reading Weeks, so as to coincide with those of most other Departments.

We have set up a live page with all of the deadlines for assessment components in Philosophy modules.
