Dear Student,

Firstly, congratulations on gaining your place at the University of Liverpool, we hope you enjoy your time here as much as we do!

LEVS is a society run by vet students for vet students and is aimed at providing both those with a keen interest in equine medicine, and those just wanting to learn a bit more about horses, with a platform to build on their current knowledge and discover more about the opportunities available in our fantastic profession. As an entity, LEVS strives to promote involvement across all five years, providing a friendly and inclusive society.

Last year we ran a successful clinical day at Leahurst comprising of practicals covering topics such as equine reproduction, upper respiratory tract and colic diagnosis. Having received fantastic feedback from participants, we are planning on organising this event again.

Other events planned for this year include:

- Countryside Day at Aintree Racecourse
- Euthanasia talk by Jeremy Kemp-Symonds
- Foot specialist talk
- Trip to Liverpool Horse Show

So whether you’re an established equestrian, or just looking to join a busy and sociable society, LEVS is for you. Membership is free, so why not give us a try!

If you have any questions at all, drop one of us below an email or find our stand at the LUVS Freshers Fair. Sign up for the Countryside Day at Aintree will also be at the Freshers Fair, so come and get your name down for LEVS’ first trip.

For more information on upcoming events like ‘Liverpool Equine Veterinary Society’ on Facebook.

Once again, congratulations on securing a place at Liverpool, we can’t wait to welcome you all in September!

Love, Your LEVS Committee
